

MODERN SLAVERY & HUMAN RIGHTS POLICY

De Grey Mining Limited (“De Grey”) is committed to eliminating modern slavery and preserving human rights in all our activities and supply chain.

Our Commitment

- Slavery is a crime and a violation of fundamental human rights. It takes various forms, such as slavery, servitude, forced and compulsory labour, forced marriage, debt bondage and human trafficking, whether adults or children, all of which have in common the deprivation of a person’s liberty by another in order to exploit them for personal or commercial gain. We are committed to acting ethically and with integrity in all our business dealings and relationships and to implementing and enforcing effective systems and controls to ensure modern slavery is not taking place anywhere in our own business or in any of our supply chains.
- We are also committed to ensuring there is transparency in our own business and in our approach to tackling modern slavery throughout our supply chains, consistent with the objectives of the Modern Slavery Act 2018 (Cth).
- We do not meet the definition of a reporting entity and are not required to comply with the disclosure obligations under the Modern Slavery Act 2018 (Cth).
- We expect the same high standards from all of our contractors, suppliers and other business partners. As part of our contracting processes, we include specific prohibitions against the use of forced, compulsory or trafficked labour, or anyone held in slavery, servitude or debt bondage, whether adults or children, and we expect that our suppliers will hold their own suppliers to the same high standards.
- This policy applies to all persons working for us or on our behalf in any capacity, including employees at all levels, directors, officers, agency workers, seconded workers, volunteers, interns, agents, contractors, external consultants, third-party representatives and business partners.
- This policy does not form part of any employee’s contract of employment and we may amend it at any time.

Responsibility for the Policy

- The Chief Financial Officer has overall responsibility for ensuring this policy complies with our ethical standards, and that all those under our control comply with it.
- The Contracts & Procurement Manager (Compliance Manager) has primary and day-to-day responsibility for implementing this policy, monitoring its use and effectiveness and dealing with any queries about it. The Compliance Manager’s responsibilities extend to:
 - monitoring, consulting and auditing internal controls and procedures to identify risks of modern slavery practices in our operations;
 - monitoring and consulting with our suppliers, contractors and business partners to identify risks of modern slavery practices in our supply chains;
 - developing measures to assess and address any risks of modern slavery practices, including through due diligence in our contractual relations;
 - monitoring the effectiveness of those measures;
 - developing appropriate training materials and programs for our employees to comply with this policy;
 - monitoring and reporting on our progress and procedures followed in preventing modern slavery, including reporting to our Board of Directors.
- Management at all levels are responsible for ensuring those reporting to them understand and comply with this policy and are given adequate training on it and the issue of modern slavery in supply chains, including any areas of our business and supply chains which are identified as at risk of modern slavery practices.
- You are invited to comment on this policy and suggest ways in which it might be improved. Comments, suggestions and queries are encouraged and should be addressed to the Compliance Manager.

POLICY

MODERN SLAVERY & HUMAN RIGHTS

Compliance with the Policy

- All our employees and contractors must read, understand and comply with this policy.
- The prevention, detection and reporting of modern slavery in any part of our business or supply chains is the responsibility of all those working for us or under our control. All employees and contractors are required to avoid any activity that might lead to, or suggest, a breach of this policy.
- You must notify your manager or the Compliance Manager as soon as possible if you believe or suspect that:
 - a conflict with this policy has occurred, or may occur in the future; or
 - a breach of this policy has occurred or that it may occur.
- You are encouraged to raise concerns about any issue or suspicion of modern slavery in any parts of our business or supply chains of any supplier tier at the earliest possible stage.
- If you are unsure about whether a particular act, the treatment of workers more generally or their working conditions within any tier of our supply chains constitutes any of the various forms of modern slavery, raise it with your manager or the Compliance Manager.
- We aim to encourage openness and will support anyone who raises genuine concerns in good faith under this policy, even if they turn out to be mistaken. We are committed to ensuring no one suffers any detrimental treatment as a result of reporting in good faith their suspicion that modern slavery of whatever form is or may be taking place in any part of our own business or in any of our supply chains. Detrimental treatment includes dismissal, disciplinary action, threats or other unfavourable treatment connected with raising a concern. If you believe that you have suffered any such treatment, you should inform the Compliance Manager immediately.

Communication and Awareness of This Policy

- We will provide training to all our employees on this policy. This will include training on how to identify modern slavery practices and the particular parts of our business and supply chains which are subject to a greater risk of modern slavery practices. This training will also form part of the induction process for all individuals who work for us, whether as an employee or a contractor.
- Our commitment to addressing the issue of modern slavery in our business and supply chains must be communicated to all suppliers, contractors and business partners at the outset of our business relationship with them and reinforced as appropriate thereafter.

Breaches of This Policy

- Any employee who breaches this policy will face disciplinary action, which could result in dismissal for misconduct or gross misconduct.
- We may terminate our relationship with other individuals and organisations working on our behalf if they breach this policy.
